DESCRIPTION OF EVENT IN 50-100 WORDS:

Anemia remains a critical public health challenge, particularly affecting women, children, and adolescents. To combat this, the camp was organized under the core Test, Treat, and Talk (T3) strategy or local community health outreach guidelines.

- Test: To screen participants for hemoglobin (Hb) levels and detect cases of mild, moderate, or severe anemia.
- Treat: To provide immediate medical consultation, necessary iron-folic acid (IFA) supplements, deworming tablets, and referral pathways for severe cases.
- Talk: To spread mass awareness regarding nutritional diets, prevention of iron deficiency, and healthy lifestyle choices through behavior change communication (BCC).

☐ Participants registered at the registration desk where basic data (age, gender, contact info, and medical history) were recorded.

☐ Hemoglobin Estimation was Conducted using digital hemoglobinometers.

☐ Medical Consultations: General physicians and nutritionists evaluated individual parameters and standard Iron-Folic Acid (IFA) supplementation, deworming tablets, and targeted dietary guidance were provided.
